Place: Gymnasium Športová hala, Junácka 8, Bratislava, Slovakia

2. Participants

The competition is open; all wushu organizations are invited to participate. There is no limit for the number of competitors from one team/school.

Teams need to bring:

- Final registration forms (PDF - electronic system)
- Waiver of liability (specifically for each participant)

3. Registration

The deadline for electronic registration is 19.5.2024 to 24:00. Electronic registration website: <https://competition.wushuslovakia.sk/uvod.php>. Registration will be open from 21.4.2024. After finishing the club/competitors registration process, it is required to download the list of competitors (pdf file) in the online registration system. The list of competitors must be sent to taolusk@gmail.com with a copy to wushusutaz@gmail.com. Applications sent after this deadline will not be accepted.

Registration fee is 20 EUR valid for one category; each additional category costs 10 EUR.

All members of the Slovak Association of Chinese Wushu have a discount on registration fee. Registration for members of Slovak Association of Chinese Wushu is 10 EUR valid for one category, each additional category is 5 EUR.

The registration fee is to be paid during the registration on June 1, 2024 from 7:00 to 8:00 or advance payment invoice. The organizer has the right to refuse registrations due to capacity reasons (this rule does not apply to Slovak clubs). Information and data in registration form cannot be changed after the official registration time is over. The paid registration fee does not cover insurance of competitors.

Note:

Competitors can sign up to a maximum of four categories. Competitors are grouped by age, where the competitors can only enter the age category, to which they belong or higher. It is not possible to compete in two age groups in the same category. Competitors starting in the Beginners Group cannot participate in other groups.

4. Competition rules (taolu)

Competition will be held according to IWUF Rules for International Wushu (Wushu Taolu Competition Rules and Judging Methods (Excerpt) 2019: I. Wushu Taolu Competition Rules (Excerpt): Chapters 4-7, II . Wushu Taolu Competition Judging Methods (Excerpt): Chapter 2“) with adjustments defined by Slovak Association of Chinese Wushu. Traditional styles shall be evaluated based on rules regarding the specifics of the relevant style. The judging of postures in traditional styles will be the same as in the southern styles of wushu. This means that with some exceptions the deduction will be made when the angle between athlete's thigh and knee is more than 45 degrees. Competition will be judged by the head judge, two or three judges (2-3) in group A, who evaluate quality of movements, and two or three judges (2-3) in group B, who evaluate overall performance. The Nandu movements (group C) will not be judged. The final score is the average of scores from judges in group A and B. Pursuant to official competition rules, the head judge can adjust the final score. The judges will be chosen by Slovak association of Chinese Wushu based on nominations from individual wushu schools (clubs) and Slovak association of Chinese Wushu itself.

For modern wushu, competition protocol according to the IWUF Rules for International Wushu is in place. Judges can allow exceptions, especially concerning clothing in beginner groups. For traditional wushu, competitors wear long trousers and top of their choice. For all taolu categories, shoes are obligatory.

Competition area for modern wushu and Taiji will be 14*8 m (carpet laid over tatami). Competition area for traditional categories will be tatami or carpet.

If the number of competitors is small, organizers can combine similar categories (age or style). If the number of competitors is high, organizers can further divide categories based on style. One competitor can compete in maximum four categories.
